Storm cleanup, damage assessment ongoing

By DAVE TAYLOR
The Trimble Banner

The cleanup is ongoing from the tornadoes that swept through Trimble County on Friday, March 2. Representatives from the Federal Emergency Management Agency, insurance adjusters and local officials have been busily touring the county assessing damages and working up estimates of losses.

No one in the county is busier these days than Trimble County Emergency Management Director Ronnie McCane.

“I don’t have a dollar estimate on losses yet,” McCane said by telephone on Monday. “Shelby Energy has told me their damages are in the range of $125,000. (Milton Fire Chief) Jason Long is working to get me an estimate of the loss at their fire station. They may be like a lot of people who had insurance but it won’t be enough.”

McCane stressed the importance of assessing all damages from slight to total destruction.

“If we get the numbers on all the estimates and we get declared a disaster area we may get some

TCHS academic team earns Sweet Sixteen finish

James Line finishes second in state in testing

Co-Coach Jon Graham knew his Academic Team would be solid this season—he just didn’t know it’d be this good. “At the beginning of the season, I told them all that I wanted a four-and-a-half foot trophy to take home on the bus.”

While the Raiders didn’t quite achieve that, they did earn the county’s first Pod Championship, defeating both Corbin High School and Russell High School—the defending state champion—before bowing out to Grayson County in the Third Round of the KAAC Governor’s Cup State Academic Meet Finals.

The Governor’s Cup, according to the KAAC website, “was founded in 1986 as a way to promote, reward and recognize outstanding academic achievement. Since then, over a quarter of a million students have taken part in the event.

Governor’s Cup has become the state’s premier academic event, involving over 20,000 students, nearly 1,200 schools, and thousands of coaches, administrators, parents and community leaders who see the rewards gained from encouraging academic performance through properly structured and professionally administered academic competition.”

Yet, for all their accomplishments as a team, the TCHS Raider A Team had one student do them all one better.

Junior James Line placed second in the state in the KAAC Governor’s Cup Written Assessment in the Social Studies division, losing by one point to the state champ.

Line scored a 41 out of a possible 50 questions, losing to Rex Bray of Clay

James Line

County by one point, 42-41. “These questions are written at a PhD level,” said Co-Coach Marcie Graham, “so, to do that is an incredible accomplishment for James. He’s a phenomenal kid.”

Line wasn’t the only Trimble test-taker. Senior Hunter Consley, son of Steve and Jackie Consley, tied for 35th overall in the state in Science, while Line also placed 27th overall in Arts & Humanities. “I cannot be more proud of our team,” said Principal Buddy Sampson. “They exhibit true excellence.”

That excellence was on full display in the Quick Recall portion of the tournament. After finishing second in the region to Oldham County, the Raiders received a difficult draw in the double-elimination Pod System, with 13th region champ Corbin and 2011 (and six-time) defending state champ, Russell County looming in the next game.

“I knew our kids would be nervous, so we really focused most of our practice time on Corbin—I didn’t talk about Russell at all,” Graham said.

In the first match, the Raiders took an early lead on the first question out of the gate, with junior Nick Kleinhenz answering. From that point forward, the Raiders dominated, defeating Corbin by nine points, 30-21.

In the second round of Pod play, the Raiders once again took a commanding lead early, scoring five of the game’s first six points. From there, senior Daniel Haney took over. He controlled the clock, repeatedly going deep into the answer clock before correctly answering the question. At the end of the match, not only had the Raiders unseated Russell as Pod Champ, but Haney had, according to one Russell coach, played the best match of anyone they’d played all season.

“The Russell County coach told me that Daniel was the best captain he’d seen all year and that our team was the best they’d played.”

Vincent to challenge dismissal by Trimble schools

By DAVE TAYLOR
The Trimble Banner

Former Trimble County educator and athletic coach Jeff Vincent will appeal his dismissal by the Trimble County School system under the provisions of Kentucky Statute KRS 161.790 regarding the “Termination of contract by board—Administrative hearing tribunal—Sanctions.”

Lisa Y. Gross, Press Secretary, Kentucky Department of Education Division of Communications, confirmed Monday that an administrative tribunal hearing for Vincent has been scheduled.

“A tribunal hearing for Mr. Vincent has been set for April 26-27, at the Trimble County central office building, unless another location is preferred,” Gross said in an email.

Marcia Dunaway, Superintendent of Trimble County Schools, verified Monday that Vincent’s contract with the school system was terminated on Jan. 27, 2012. Vincent had been suspended with pay by Dunaway on June 20, 2011, stating she was “aware there is an investigation concerning possible criminal conduct by Jeff.”

The Kentucky State Police confirmed in July that Vincent was the target of an investigation then ongoing by the KSP Special Investigation Unit in Frankfort. The investigation involved a complaint by parents of a female student, alleging misconduct with their daughter and other female students.

Barry Moore, Commonwealth Attorney for Trimble County, told The Trimble Banner yesterday that based “on the things they (KSP) sent to me my office has not taken anything before a grand jury. There is no felony presented before me at this time.”

Moore said evidence and statements presented to him indicated that Vincent had a “consensual relationship” with a female but that “she was of age at that time. Since then the laws have changed.”

Moore said the KSP is still conducting “an ongoing investigation and I cannot comment further on any investigation that is ongoing.”

According to the provisions of state law regarding Vincent’s procedure to seek a tribunal hearing, “the commissioner of education shall appoint a three member tribunal, consisting of one teacher, who may be retired, one administrator, who may be retired, and one lay

KSP make meth arrest after Trimble traffic stop

Wardrup

A traffic stop in Trimble County last week led to the arrest of the driver for manufacturing methamphetamine.

On Thursday, March 8, at approximately 10:30 p.m., Kentucky State Police Trooper Josh Noble stopped a vehicle driven by 21-year-old Campbellsville resident Corey Wardrup on Rowlett Avenue in Bedford. A meth lab was discovered during a search of the vehicle. Troopers also found two ounces of finished methamphetamine inside the vehicle. No children were present during the stop.

Wardrup was charged with the following: Manufacturing Methamphetamine 1st, Possession of a Controlled Substance, DUI 1st, Careless Driving, and Possession of Drug Paraphernalia.

Trooper Noble is leading the ongoing investigation.

KSP plans checkpoints

The Kentucky State Police will be conducting traffic safety checkpoints in the counties of Oldham, Trimble, Henry, Owen, Carroll and Gallatin during the period of March 19 - April 2, 2012.

The intent of a traffic safety checkpoint is to provide for high visibility public safety service, focusing on vehicular equipment deficiencies, confirming appropriate registration of vehicles and the licensing of drivers. Violations of law or other public safety issues that arise shall be addressed in accordance with Kentucky traffic and regulatory laws.

Bookmobile shrinks but still on the job

The Trimble County Public Library bookmobile is getting smaller, but will still be doing a big job. When the bookmobile broke down in January, the library discovered that the cost to attempt repairs on the 1993 bread truck style bookmobile was more than the vehicle is worth.

Through the years, since the community first started bookmobile service, new vehicles and service were paid in part by state grants. Those grants are no longer available due to state budget cuts and bookmobiles are very expensive.

The library board and staff spent several weeks gathering information and taking a very close look at how the bookmobile is used here and in other counties. Bookmobile service continues to be a strong part of public library service to Kentucky communities. In fact, Kentucky has the highest number of bookmobiles in the nation and many people rely on the bookmobiles to bring library services to their home or community.

Bookmobile patrons can be anyone, but many are in nursing homes or living at retirement facilities, some are homebound and unable to drive or have physical disabilities that make it difficult or impossible to visit the library.

The library felt that it was important to continue this important service but that changes could be made in how bookmobile patrons are reached. Several counties across the state have moved to a book delivery service. Rather than driving a very large, expensive truck, they are using small, gas efficient delivery vehicles to take patrons the materials they request.

The library found that many Trimble County bookmobile patrons were already using the bookmobile in that way by ordering the exact materials they need with a library staff person and arranging for bookmobile delivery. With that in mind, the library gathered estimates for several vehicles and the board approved the purchase of a small Ford Focus Hatchback.

The new vehicle will still offer library services at community stops around the county but at well less than half the initial cost of a larger bookmobile and will be cheaper for gas and maintenance, as well. Bookmobile services resumed with the new vehicle on Tuesday, March 13. If you need to receive library materials at a bookmobile stop, please call the library at 255-7362.

McConnell pays tribute to Kentucky Storm victims

The tornadoes that hit Kentucky were very severe, with at least 11 funnel clouds confirmed to have touched down in the Bluegrass State by the National Weather Service, blowing at wind speeds up to 125 miles per hour.

We now know that these deadly storms claimed 23 lives in Kentucky, and more than 300 were injured. We've heard stories like that of Stephanie Decker, currently in stable condition at the University Hospital of Louisville, who raced home during the storm just in time to hurry her 8-year-old son and 5-year-old daughter into the basement of their three-story, brick-and-stone house.

She covered their tiny bodies with her own as the tornado crashed the house down on top of them. Stephanie has lost one leg above the knee and the other above the ankle, but her children survived without a scratch. The weekend immediately after the storms I visited the part of Kentucky that was arguably hardest hit by them, the town of West Liberty. The town is home to just 3,400 people—and all 3,400 lives have been thrown into chaos, as virtually the entire population had to be evacuated.

Churches, homes, schools, and businesses are reduced to rubble. The town courthouse and city hall are both in ruins. Basically, Mr. President, this once-thriving, happy little community is now barely there. Scenes from West Liberty are replicated across the State in places like Magoffin, Menifee, Kenton, Morgan, Laurel, Lawrence, Martin, Pulaski, Johnson, and Trimble counties, which are among the hardest hit.

And too many Kentucky families are mourning what was taken from them by the storms that can never be replaced.

In Lawrence County, Joyce Chaffins, 65, and her granddaughter, 14-year-old Samantha Wood, died when a tornado struck their home. Samantha was a ninth-grader at Lawrence County High School, where she played in the band and was a member of the National Junior Honor Society.

The storm has also claimed James Gregory Brooks, 48, Donald L. Beemon, 78, and Linda Beemon, 73, of Kenton County.

In Johnson County, in Middle Fork, a tornado ripped the home of Gregory Perry, 20, right off its foundation and carried it over a 25-foot embankment into rushing creek rapids, where, according to the county coroner, the house "just disintegrated."

Gregory was killed, along with Sean Shepherd, a 16-year-old boy from Prestonsburg who had the misfortune of visiting Gregory at the time.

More lives taken by this destructive force of nature include Sherman DeWayne Allen, 49, Debbie Allen, 49; Wilburn Pitman, 81, Virginia Pitman, 73, and Ethel Pruitt, 64, all of Laurel County.

In Morgan County, husband and wife Charles and Betty Sue Endicott, both in their early 50s, were caring for Charles's mother, Elizabeth Endicott, 72, after her recovery from a stroke. A tornado struck their trailer home, killing all three of them. Charles's sister, Marita Moore, surveyed the scene of destruction and said this: "There's not even a memory left down there."

More Kentucky families who don't deserve such a painful loss include the families of Beverly Bowman, 47, Anita Smith, 53, and Vershal Brown, 79, all of Menifee County; and Alex Clayton Dulin, 86, Emma Dean Cecil, 87, and Wilmer Cecil, 90, all of Morgan County.

In Pulaski County, 74-year-old Helen Placke was found dead in her home. She had sought shelter from the storms inside a

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Milton Fire & Rescue seeks local donations

Editor:

On March 2, 2012, Milton Fire & Rescue Station No. 2 in Milton Kentucky was hit by an EF-3 tornado. We lost the Station, a 1983 Spartan Fire Engine, a mobile fish fry trailer, some gear, radios and pagers, and some other items that were stored at this station. Our Fire Department is an all-volunteer department that relies on donations only since we are not a taxing department.

Losing our fish fry trailer is the biggest loss we have as this is what brought in about 50% of our operating budget each year. We had already had 20 booked events for this year that we are not able to do now. We are worried about how we will make payments on our bills without this source.

We are currently working with our insurance company at this time to see what, if anything, they can do for us. Our members take great pride in this department as they work hard for everything we have. We do want people to know that WE WILL RE-BUILD and we will continue to serve our area in the event they need us.

We are asking for help funding our department and would like to let people know that they can mail donations to us at: Milton Fire & Rescue P.O. Box 256 Milton, Kentucky 40045 or you can go to our website and donate at www.miltonfireandrescue.org <<http://www.miltonfireandrescue.org>> . It is not often that we have to ask for help, it seems heroes need heroes too. Thank you all for your support.

TCEM director thanks all for help after storm

Editor:

Trimble County Emergency Management would like to thank the following for their help and support during the recent tornado that hit our county.

Trimble County Emergency Search Unit, Milton Fire and Rescue, Bedford Fire and Rescue, Trimble County Sheriff's Dept., Ky State Police, Trimble County EMS, Ky Fish and Wildlife, American Red Cross, Shelby Energy, KU, Trimble County Road Dept., Rita Davis, Paul Whitman, Shelby County EMA, and anyone and everyone who helped in any way.

We would also like to thank all those who helped with the clean up after the storm.

Our prayers go out to those effected by this storm.

Policy for letters to the editor

The Trimble Banner welcomes correspondence in the form of letters or guest columns. Please include your name, address and telephone number so we may verify that you are the author and that you intend to have the letter published. Only your name and the town you live in will be published; all other personal information will be omitted. When necessary, submissions that are too long will be edited for space reasons. The Trimble Banner also reserves the right to edit all submissions for style, grammar and spelling.

LOOKING BACK

30 Years Ago (March 18, 1982)

The Trimble County Fiscal Court approved an ordinance authorizing the issuance of $27,500,000 of pollution control revenue bonds to provide pollution control facilities for the LG&E Company's generating plant at Wise's Landing in Trimble County. The Bonds are solely the obligation of Louisville Gas and Electric Company, and no county funds of any sort will ever be involved in paying principal of and interest on the bonds.

Southern Health Services and the thousands of people from Oldham, Trimble and Henry counties were told Monday that the proposed new hospital in LaGrange was not needed.

Deaths: Jennings B. Greenwood, 85, Milington; Herbert Ralston, 68, Bennington; Emma Beaumont, 90, Indianapolis, formerly of Bedford.

50 Years Ago (March 15, 1962)

Cisterns and wells covered by surface flood waters should be pumped out, sterilized with a strong chlorine solution and then refilled with safe water, according to Logan Lanham, Trimble County Health Department Sanitarian. Now that flood waters have receded, you should do this. Mr. Lanham explains that one ounce of chlorine, two level tablespoonful, of lime will sterilize 4,000 gallons of water.

No deaths reported this week.

70 Years Ago (March 12, 1942)

If you come within the group for whom returns of your federal income tax return is required, you have only until midnight, March 16, in which to file a return.

Under a federal mandate, Mr. Wallace Wright has been appointed explosive licensing agent for Trimble County. He has control over the sale and distribution of all explosives that are sold in quantity lots. Any dealer in the county who deals in dynamite, dynamite caps, fuses, and bulk powder must secure licenses for the sale of such. This action does not include the sale of small arms ammunition.

Every award that could be gleaned from the district basketball tournament held in Trimble, Oldham and Henry counties last week, was carried back to Trimble by the two strongest teams ever to meet in hardwood competition in this area, when the Milton Panthers took the championship, with the TCHS Blue Demons as their running mate for second honors. During the district meet the Demons scored a total of 191 points and the Panthers collected a total of 176 markers.

Deaths: Harvey Leroy Jacobs, 51, Mt. Tabor neighborhood.

80 Years Ago (March 17, 1932)

According to County Agent Orem LaMaster, hog cholera has broken out on the farm of Captain Blaine Short below Ewingford. He purchased 41 stock hogs at Eminence through a sales company on the first day of March. On Wednesday one of these hogs was sick and, after losing several head, a veterinarian was called and pronounced the hogs dying with hog cholera. Farmers should be careful when purchasing stock hogs and keep them separate from others for a week to see if they are healthy. Neighboring farmers to Captain Short should have their hogs vaccinated against cholera by an accredited veterinarian, said Mr. LeMaster.

Deaths Mrs. George Douglas, 44, LaGrange; Ambrose D. Cassity, 78, Madison, Ind.

WE ARE ALL SO LOVED

Oh, to be loved as Dennis Williams is loved!

A week or so ago on a Sunday afternoon, two women I don't know knocked on my door. They said they knew me, or at least knew me through my writing and somehow thought I could help them find their friend Dennis.

They knew enough about me to deduce that I owned my own home and searched the county property appraiser's web-site to find my address so they could come and see me in person because they were that desperate to find their friend who was missing.

Since they only looked partially crazy, and they assured me that they didn't normally stalk people - I was their first - I let them in my house.

Their friend Dennis was missing and they were frantic to find him. They would've done anything to find someone to help them.

Then they described him: He's a bit scary, like an alligator. When he opens his mouth, you think he might bite you. With a loud and thunderous voice, people often think he's mean. He rushes into a room like Superman. He's a bulldozer and socially awkward.

He doesn't sound lovable and cuddly, but these women seemed to love him. Tears welled in their eyes as they continued to tell me about him.

Before Dennis disappeared he volunteered at the same local outreach ministry where the women volunteer. He was there every single day the ministry was open, arriving a half-hour early and staying until they made him go home - except, he didn't have a home, at least not one with traditional walls and such.

Grace Notes
Nancy Kennedy

He lived in a structure that has a tree growing in the middle of it, and he let anyone who needed a home stay there, too. He has nothing but shares everything.

At the ministry, if you asked Dennis to "clear out" one end of the donations room, he would, the women said, although you might find everything from that end in piles at the other end.

He took it upon himself to make sure all the trash cans were clean. No dirty trash cans on Dennis' watch, no sir.

The women, no longer even partially crazy, continued to tell me about Dennis and about how it wasn't like him to go missing other than after an occasional night of too much drinking.

Then one of the women said, "Initially, when you hear about or see Dennis' situation, your heart might yearn to help 'fix' such a man, but quite to the contrary, Dennis doesn't need to be fixed."

Sometimes Dennis will find something - a ceramic angel, a certain snack he knows you like - and hold it out to you and say, "Here, you need this."

The woman standing in my entryway, with the passionate desperation that can only be fueled by love said, "Dennis possesses the one thing the rest of us can only hope for - a heart of love for others. His words are true: 'Here, you need this.'"

Then she said his friend, "Hobo Joe," had recently died in a tragic fire and Dennis somehow doesn't have the skills or the capacity or the language necessary to process his feelings. That maybe that's why their developmentally disabled friend was missing. Maybe he grabbed his backpack and just took off, trying to escape his confusing feelings.

(Really, don't we all do that one way or another?)

Before the women left my house they said, "He is our Dennis and we love him - we need him."

The next day I worked on the story for the newspaper and by the end of the week, mostly thanks to the sheriff's office, Dennis was found safe and sound helping at an outreach ministry at a church in Tallahassee, hundreds of miles away.

But the story doesn't end here. In talking with the pastor at the church in Tallahassee - how he got that far, the pastor didn't know. But she did know that he had been "their" Dennis years before. He would show up at their mission outreach every day, all gruff and thunderous and bulldozer-like, and his awkward, sometimes annoying love transformed them.

When he disappeared one day several years ago, they, too, filed a missing person's report and worried and prayed and cried until they learned of his whereabouts.

When I told my boss the whole story she said, "I want to be that loved!"

And you know what? We are that loved. We're all a Dennis, broken and imperfect, and Jesus came searching for us - all the way to the Cross.

Do You Love Virtue More Than You Fear Punishment?

An ancient poet has remarked that good men avoid sin from a love of virtue while evil men avoid sin from a fear of punishment. Psychologists who study moral development tell us that the early stages of moral development are largely about avoiding punishment, but that as children grow older they usually develop an appreciation for virtue and moral principles. If you do the right thing only because you fear being punished if you don't, you are at best acting like a child, and at worst, morally depraved. If you do the right thing because you have a sincere love of virtue, then you have achieved a higher stage of moral development. On the spiritual plane, the difference is between someone who does what is good out of sheer adherence to moral or religious precepts, acting primarily from a fear of hellfire, damnation, or similar punishment, rather than from a love of God and his fellow man. We should cultivate first and foremost a love of God, and secondly a love of our fellow man. The rest will fall naturally into place.

"Jesus replied: "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with your entire mind.' This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like it: 'Love your neighbor as yourself.' All the Law and the Prophets hang on these two commandments."

Am I taking care of me or you?

It is mistakenly accepted that self-care is selfish, if a person doesn't take care of his or her own needs, eventually the result is burnout. This same person will resent others because they failed to sacrifice as they have. They have a tendency to lose themselves in service in the process of martyrdom and then get upset if others are not martyrs.

Perhaps this is generationally passed down from the environment in which they were raised. Role models play an important part in forming who a person becomes.

Doing too much for others and carrying their responsibilities can even seem like a way to give love. Actually this is crippling and training dependency patterns in which a person expects that others owe them and they don't need to take care of themselves.

We can best serve others by guiding them in ways that teach self-reliance and pride of accomplishment. We help others by encouraging others to help themselves. It is important to look at the reason you are 'bending over backwards' to offer support to another person.

Perhaps you are trying to get approval or feel this is necessary to hold the other person's love, or to win their respect. In this case, the motivation that is driving you to over-extend yourself is insecurity and you are actually driven to do for others to feel good about yourself. When this is taken to extreme, chronic exhaustion can result from self-neglect. It is critical to keep the needs of others and your own needs in balance. Some days you have something to give and other days you need to listen to your own emotional and physical cry for attention. This is not being self-centered; rather it is applying self-preservation.

There is a way out of this dilemma by being realistic in the ways you are taking care of yourself and others. By practicing a technique called 'mindfulness' you can become more aware of your energy level and your true motivation for your actions. It is a way of living that makes us accountable and aware of the things that we missed in the over-whelmed state of drifting through life.

Mindfulness is a process used by author Jon Kabat-Zinn, PhD. His theory is based on the attitude of paying close attention and really seeing things as they truly are happening. By being fully present in the moment, we can experience it with new insights and perspectives.

He explains that a person gets caught up in trying to control things, judging, assuming and living more in their head than in the events of the moment. We spend so much time regretting the past and fearing the future that we miss the present time that is right in front of us to live more fully.

If this process of observation is practiced, we become aware of the reasons for our actions and for our choices in life. We stop blaming others for the mess our life has become and can then take constructive action to take care of our own needs. We stop doing things for others that they need to do for themselves. We let go of the fear of saying "No" to authority figures and find time to have a balance of play, work and rest.

An accurate measurement of how much you are taking care of your own needs is shown by the amount of time you give each of these aspects of your life.

It is good to help others, but not at the expense of your own well-being. It is not constructive to train laziness or allow others to avoid doing their part in a project. Constructive work habits are not fostered by being a work alcoholic or by letting another person become a couch potato.

Let others know you care about them by encouraging independence and demonstrating the role-model of self-respect and self-love. We can't truly love others until we love ourselves.

Trimble sophs score well in state's PLAN assessment

By DAVE TAYLOR
The Trimble Banner

Trimble County High School sophomores showed what TCHS Principal Stirling "Buddy" Sampson called "phenomenal" improvement in the Kentucky Department of Education's PLAN Assessment given last fall. Sampson was comparing the PLAN scores to results from the EXPLORE scores compiled by the same students as eighth graders in 2009.

The PLAN is the precursor to the ACT, the college admissions test used by the majority of the country and all of Kentucky. The PLAN test is administered to give the schools and students a better understanding of where they stand relative to the College Readiness Standards.

"Our school has been working really hard on the college and career readiness of our students," Sampson said. "The primary indicator is the EXPLORE in 8th grade, and the PLAN as a sophomore, before the ACT as a junior."

In the 2011 administration of the test, 48,955 10th-grade Kentucky students took the PLAN assessment, according to statistics released by the KDE.

Sampson compared Trimble's PLAN scores to the 2009 EXPLORE scores as follows:

In the 2009 EXPLORE English assessment Trimble students scored higher than 22 percent of the rest of the state.

Last fall's PLAN results showed Trimble scoring higher than 53 percent of sophomores in Kentucky.

In Math Trimble scored better than 47 percent of all students taking the EXPLORE assessment in 2009, and 65 percent above the rest of the state in PLAN.

In Reading Trimble scored better than 28 percent of all students taking the EXPLORE assessment in 2009, and 69 percent above the rest of the state in PLAN.

In Science Trimble scored better than 41 percent of all students taking the EXPLORE assessment in 2009, and 72 percent above the rest of the state in PLAN.

The Composite score for the 2009 EXPLORE assessment was better than 35 percent of the state. Last fall's PLAN results showed Trimble's students scoring better than 62 percent of Kentucky sophomores taking the assessment.

These numbers reflect the same group of students as the 2009 eighth graders taking EXPLORE, and 10th graders in the 2011 PLAN.

"The story being told, is that the growth compared to the state from the beginning of 8th grade to the beginning of the sophomore year is phenomenal," Sampson said. "Our 8th grade team and freshman teachers are working hard to ensure that our kids are getting where they need to be."

Administration of the EXPLORE, PLAN and ACT assessments, which are provided by ACT, Inc., was mandated by Senate Bill 130 (codified in KRS 158.6453) in the 2006 session of the Kentucky General Assembly. The assessments will help schools focus on meeting academic standards across the entire secondary school program. Scores from the assessments will be helpful in measuring student achievement, gauging their readiness for transition and evaluating school programs.

PLAN helps 10th graders build a solid foundation for future academic and career success and provides information needed to address school districts' high-priority issues. The exam assesses four subjects (English, mathematics, reading and science) and is a predictor of success on the ACT.

Both assessments help schools pinpoint areas of weakness for individual students and school-wide curriculum and make changes to improve learning. Schools will analyze their individual results to inform decision-making.

Senate Bill 1, passed in the 2009 session of the Kentucky General Assembly, requires a high school readiness examination in 8th grade and a college readiness examination in 10th grade. EXPLORE and PLAN, respectively, will be used for these purposes.

TCHS juniors took the ACT test earlier this month.

In fact, Trimble County's three-year string of state appearances have been the only anomaly to that fact. TCHS has been the smallest public school competing at the state level the past three years.

"It's an incredible accomplishment," said Graham, "and our kids should really be proud of their effort and intelligence."

A TCAE student success story

By Lisa Moore

JCTC's Trimble County Adult Education can assist students in achieving their goals. One main goal of students today is making a successful transition to college. Being prepared to enter college is no easy task and if you find that you are not quite there, the instructors at TCAE can help you accomplish this task. The Center is offering summer workshops to help students get ready for college in the fall.

A former student, Katherine Raye, came to TCAE with two main goals in mind: obtaining her GED and getting into college. She was able to reach both of these goals while attending JCTC Trimble County Adult Education. Katherine has been attending classes both on campus and online at Jefferson Community & Technical College in Carrollton, KY. She stated, "When I went to TCAE the instructors made me feel comfortable and confident that I could accomplish my goals." Katherine worked hard while at TCAE and in her college studies and is looking forward to a promising future.

Katherine recently returned to TCAE to obtain a National Career

Readiness Certificate. She hopes to reach platinum status. Depending on how a student scores, he/she can earn a nationally recognized silver, gold, or platinum certificate. This certificate will show potential employers that he/she is proficient in three key employable areas: Applied Mathematics, Reading for Information, and Locating Information. This Certificate is a great addition to any resume. Anyone is eligible to take these FREE tests to help enhance a resume.

JCTC TCAE offers FREE instruction for all of the following: GED and college preparation, brush up on academic skills to get a better job, National Career Readiness Certificate--nationally recognized certification in 3 key areas, Paraeducator Testing to become an instructional assistant in the school system, ELL-English Language Learners, and more. As announced on March 1, the GED TEST IS FREE UNTIL JUNE 30, 2012! Further, the GED test is changing in 2014 and is expected to be a more difficult test.

The Center is open Monday and Thursday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

for classes and open lab. Testing and orientations are given on Tuesdays by appointment. Classes and some appointments are available on Wednesdays. While supplies last, students may earn incentives for reaching certain goals. Students will also have the opportunity to get their name entered in a drawing for great prizes to be given away in June. Some prizes include a power climber bicycle, $25 Bedford Stop-n-Go gift card, and a $25 Wal-Mart gift card. For more information and to make an appointment, please call (502)255-9191.

Andrews earns degree

Angelea Andrews of Bedford has received a Master of Arts in Teaching degree in Elementary Education from Western Governors University. On Feb. 11, the online, non-profit university held its semi-annual commencement ceremony in Atlanta, Georgia, and celebrated the graduation of more than 2,600 graduates—WGU's largest class ever.

Free GED testing, NCRC assessments offered

(FRANKFORT, Ky.)

Two important education and workforce credential tests will be free to eligible Kentuckians on a first-come, first-served basis through June 30 or until funds are expended. Free GED tests and assessments to earn a National Career Readiness Certificate are sponsored by Kentucky Adult Education, a unit of the Council on Postsecondary Education, and the Department of Workforce Investment, an agency of the Education and Workforce Development Cabinet, using federal Workforce Investment Act (WIA) incentive funding.

GED testing

"We are pleased to offer free testing because it will help many Kentuckians re-energize their education and careers," said Council on Postsecondary Education President Bob King. "For many Kentuckians, earning a GED is a necessary first step toward college and a career with a family-sustaining wage."

The GED tests provide adults who did not finish high school with the opportunity to certify their attainment of high school-level academic knowledge and skills. Free GED classes are available through local adult education programs in all 120 Kentucky counties.

Free testing in 2011 led to a 10 percent increase in the number of Kentuckians earning a GED. A total of 10,294 GEDs were earned in Kentucky in 2010-11.

"The current economy is tough for everyone but has an even greater impact if you are looking for work and do not have your high school diploma," said Reecie D. Stagnolia, vice president, Kentucky Adult Education. "We see this as a way to help the individual student and to help increase educational attainment in Kentucky at the same time."

Kentuckians interested in taking advantage of free classes and the time-limited free GED testing should contact the adult education center in their county to discuss how to get started. To find the local adult education center, call (800) 928-7323 or visit www.KnowHow2GoKy.org.

NCRC testing

The NCRC is a national certification that indicates work readiness by administering three WorkKeys assessments: applied mathematics, locating information and reading for information. These specific workplace skills are needed in 77 percent of all jobs profiled for WorkKeys testing.

"NCRC is the quantifiable tool that allows employers and economic developers to measure terms such as 'we need a qualified workforce' into a credential that means the same thing in Bowling Green, Ohio, Bowling Green, Virginia, and Bowling Green, Kentucky," said Beth Brinly, commissioner of the Department of Workforce Investment.

Eligible individuals can obtain free NCRC testing through local One-Stop Career Centers and adult education centers. This offer is time and space limited, so those interested should schedule through one of these testing locations early and should request a "free NCRC." To find a One-Stop Career Center, visit www.oet.ky.gov/des/wis/wfservices.htm.

The next morning, the Raiders again took a lead, but was unable to withstand a furious rally by Grayson.

Still, this is as far as any Raider team has ever gone in the State Competition. "Governor's Cup brings

Typically, very large public schools and some private schools across the state are the only teams able to compete. "Academic Team just takes so much time," said Marcie Graham, "that kids who do more than one thing are already at a disadvantage."

TCMS salutes 7th grade Students of Month

Trimble County Middle School Principal Mike Genton has announced recognition of the seventh grade Students of the Month and Teacher and Staff Member Spotlights for January.

Tessa Chilton is our female seventh grade Student of the Month for January. Tessa's favorite class at TCMS is reading, and her favorite extracurricular activities are track and the academic team. Her favorite book is the Harry Potter series (all of them), and her favorite TV show is "40 Funniest Fails." Outside of school Tessa enjoys drawing, and after graduating from TCHS she plans on attending the University of Louisville and pursuing a degree in art.

Joey Newton is our male seventh grade Student of the Month for January. Joey's favorite class at

Abbott

TCMS is history. Joey's favorite book is Rot and Ruin, and his favorite TV show is "The Walking Dead." Outside of school Joey enjoys hunting. His favorite memory at TCMS was our latest Team Trimble Day. After graduating from TCHS Joey plans to attend Kentucky State University and pursue a degree in Video Game Design.

Crystal Harris is our seventh grade Teacher Spotlight for the Month of January. Harris has been in education for 15 years the past 13 here at TCMS.

Raymond Abbott is our Staff Spotlight for the Month of January. Abbott has been at TCMS for several years. He attended University of Louisville and Eastern Kentucky University. Outside of school Abbott enjoys construction, hunting, photography, gardening and fishing. He has helped with Boy Scouts and coached T-Ball and girls' softball teams at the county park. His favorite food is fried chicken, white fish and pizza, and his favorite TV shows are "NCIS," "CSI" and University of Kentucky basketball. His favorite memory at TCMS is helping young people with their struggles and helping them to understand they have to be responsible for their actions because they are getting older.

A failed septic system creates problems such as noxious odors, lower property values, surface water contamination and groundwater pollution and may be a health hazard. Repair and replacement costs are considerable.

You can find additional information on assessing septic system performance and reducing the potential risk of groundwater contamination from a KY-A-Syst publication:

Good operation and maintenance practices start with everyone in the household knowing what damages the septic system. Volunteers help storm victims

A group of volunteers pitched in at the Morgan Community Center Saturday to assist with the distribution of food and sundry items for victims of the March 2 tornado in Trimble County. Teams of volunteers also helped in storm-stricken areas, according to Rita Davis, Bedford Deputy City Clerk.

Over 100 lunches were delivered to two different tornado damage sites. This is addition to the food that was prepared and served at the Morgan Community Center in Bedford. Henry County Helping Hands, Inc. prepared and served another 60 lunches there. Cathy & Cowboys Gas Station in Eminence donated beverages to take around to the victims and volunteers. Norm's Food World in Eminence donated the wonderful food for lunches.

Among those lending assistance Saturday was a group of students from Chance School, located at 4200 Lime Kiln Lane in Louisville. Sarah Cummins, is Group Leader of an after school service group called Chance School Roots & Shoots made up of 3rd through 5th graders.

"These students were really concerned about the tornado victims and one even wrote to me asking if we could help," Cummins told The Trimble Banner in an email. "I found Rita and the Community Center through someone at the Red Cross who told me that they weren't receiving any assistance from the larger organizations. Once Rita told me about the Trimble County community, how they were affected by the tornadoes and the help that was needed, the school decided to become involved also."

The effort seemed like something that would require more help than her small group could provide, Cummins said, but the response of families and teachers from the school was incredible.

"On Saturday, we brought 12 children and 18 adult volunteers, including five teachers at Chance School," Cummins said. "Most of our group from Chance School was able to view the destruction from the one tornado that hit Joyce Mill road and a few volunteers stayed there to help clean up while the rest of us came back to help the families at the community center."

Donations and workers throughout the Tornado Disaster Relief are UPS, Amazon, Fullfillment Center, Chance School of Louisville, Carrollton Federal Bank, Joey and Carla Ginn, Dare to Care Food Bank, Pernell Sausage, Krispy Crème, NAS, Sligo Baptist Church, Emergency Restoration, Estes Express, Greg Heveline and Bedford Fire Department and Trimble County Churches and citizens.

No funds or items of any kind has been donated by the American Red Cross or FEMA, according to Davis.

Teresa Tebib/for The Trimble Banner

Greg Heveline volunteered his forklift from Bedford Hardware to unload a truckload of donated materials at the Morgan Community Center on Wednesday.

Louisville's Chance School brought 12 student volunteers and 18 adult volunteers to assist with distribution of goods to storm victims Saturday at the Morgan Community Center.

Volunteers are shown getting set up Saturday for the distribution of food and household items to Trimble County victims of the March 2 tornadoes.

Dave Taylor/The Trimble Banner

Diane McKinney (far right) met with firefighters at the Milton Fire & Rescue Station No. 2 following the March 2 tornado. Many items had been brought to the fire station earlier that day in preparation for a ALS fundraiser event scheduled for the following day. Most of the items perished with the storm.

ALS fundraiser is storm victim

By DAVE TAYLOR

The Trimble Banner

"Bob's Bunch Battling ALS" will hold a fundraiser at the Morgan Community Center in Bedford on Saturday, April 14. The tornado that struck the Milton Fire Station No. 2 on March 2 forced the cancellation of another fundraiser the group had planned to hold on the following day.

The April 14 event is being held to raise funds for ALS research and bring continued awareness to the local region about the Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis, commonly known as "Lou Gehrig's disease." The event, which had been scheduled for March 3, was to have included a fish fry by Milton Fire and Rescue, an auction, a gun raffle and a yard sale.

Most of the items for the auction and yard sale had been delivered to the fire station earlier in the day before the storm hit, according to Diane McKinney, who organized the group last year. McKinney's husband, Bob, was diagnosed with the disease in 2009.

"I was shocked," McKinney said of her reaction to the storm warnings. Some of the volunteers for the fundraiser "were up there getting ready just an hour before it hit and decided we needed to go home and take shelter."

While assessing the damage to the fire station shortly after the tornado ravaged the building Milton Fire Chief Jason Long said everything was set for the fish fry.

"The unfortunate part about this is we had just set up for a fundraiser for ALS that we were going to be doing a fish fry for," Long said. "They had an auction set up. They were going to do a complete auction of all these goods. Everything that they had in there is now gone besides what they're carrying out and able to salvage. The fundraiser for that's pretty much done."

Long said any future fundraisers for his department "are pretty much done because our trailer is gone that we cook fish with and that's one of our main things that we get funding from."

McKinney said a number of "Bob's Bunch" volunteers and several Milton firefighters managed to salvage some of the items.

"We were able to save about a quarter of the auction items," she said. "We did lose some pretty nice items, though. All of the yard sale things are pretty much okay. The paintings donated by local artists were okay. There were a lot of NASCAR collectibles and the ones that we did manage to save the boxes were damaged so they don't have any value now. The gift cards that had been donated were saved. Some were a little worse for the wear but we still have them."

McKinney said the group met March 7 to regroup.

"We're not giving up," she said. "We'll go ahead and have the auction, draw for the raffle and have the yard sale and probably a meal. We'll regroup and then we'll see. Ticket sales for the raffle are closed until the day of the auction. We'll not be selling tickets between now and then but we will sell more tickets on April 14."

"I can't begin to tell you how wonderful all of the Milton Fire Department people were," McKinney said. "They jumped in to help get our items out after the storm. They were feeling bad for us and we were feeling bad for them. Our community really is wonderful!"

closet-but to no avail.

In Kenton County, in the town of Falmouth, Courtney Stephenson died when her car was suddenly lifted and catapulted across six lanes of traffic on I-75. She was 42 years old.

It's sobering and humbling to think about the many wondrous technologies and abilities we have in this great country-from the medical advances that can place tiny tools into the smallest human capillaries, to our scientific discoveries that enable us to send cameras to the outermost edges of the solar system and actually take pictures of other planets and send them back to Earth.

And yet human life is still so fragile when confronted with the powerful forces of the natural world.

I would be remiss, if I didn't conclude with a note of gratitude-and that is gratitude for the many brave and heroic first responders and other Kentuckians who have rushed to the aid of those hardest hit by these storms.

Over the last week, my office has been contacted by people throughout the country asking how they can help. We've pointed them to various places in the Commonwealth where the people on the ground have coordinated incredible assistance to those in need.

Volunteers from the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, Goodwill, the Kentucky Cattlemen's Association, the United Way, and the business community have come together to provide food, blood, resources, and shelter to those in need. Many churches and civic organizations have taken up collection drives.

And many Kentuckians of good heart, without any prodding, have on their own simply loaded up their cars with bottled water, food, and whatever else they can spare and driven to scenes of tornado wreckage to ask, "How can I help?"

Government has a key role to play as well. FEMA is on the case. And my friend Senator Paul and I have sent a letter to the president urging him to approve Governor Steve Beshear's request for federal assistance.

The Kentucky State Police have played a vital role in collecting water, food, clothing, and other resources, and distributing them to the communities that need them.

And as always, the Kentucky National Guard is in the foreground of disaster relief. More than 220 members of the Kentucky National Guard and Air Guard were mobilized and deployed to 10 counties after Governor Steve Beshear declared a statewide emergency.

Even in the face of such tragedy, the burden on our hearts is eased by the good will and good works of so many Kentuckians willing to serve and come to the aid of their neighbors. It makes me proud to represent the people of Kentucky in this United States Senate.

person, none of whom reside in the district, to conduct an administrative hearing in accordance with KRS Chapter 13B within the district. Priority for selection as a tribunal member shall be from a pool of potential tribunal members who have been designated and trained to serve as tribunal members on a regular and ongoing basis, pursuant to administrative regulations promulgated by the Kentucky Board of Education. Funds appropriated to the Department of Education for professional development may be used to provide tribunal member training. The commissioner of education shall name the chairman and set the date and time of the hearing.”

Upon hearing both sides of the case, the tribunal may by a majority vote render its decision or may defer its action for not more than five days, according to state statute. The tribunal decision shall be a final order and may be rendered on the record. If after the hearing the decision of the tribunal is against termination of the contract, the suspended teacher shall be paid his full salary for any period of suspension.

The teacher shall have the right to make an appeal to the Circuit Court having jurisdiction in the county where the school district is located in accordance with KRS Chapter 13B. The review of the final order shall be conducted by the Circuit Court as required by KRS

Citing the advice of the Trimble County Board of Education’s attorney, Dunaway declined Monday to comment on the hearing except to verify Vincent’s termination occurred in January.

A Trimble County High School graduate, Vincent began employment in the Trimble school district as a kindergarten teacher at Bedford Elementary School in 1998. In 2003, he became the BES counselor and served as the district migrant advocate from the beginning of his employment until his suspension last June. Vincent also served as head coach of the high school track and cross country programs for several years.

On Monday, Vincent on the advice of his attorney declined an invitation to comment on the hearing.

kind of help from the federal government,” he said. “If not financial help some people may qualify for a low-interest loan. If we get declared a disaster area FEMA would then set up an office in town and everyone would be directed to go there for assistance.”

McCane said the National Weather Service has verified that four tornadoes struck the county. The storms destroyed six homes, five more are unlivable, 10 were damaged to varying degrees but still livable, McCane said. Additionally, a large number of barns and other outbuildings were damaged or destroyed.

“There were more outbuildings and barns damaged and destroyed than houses but I don’t have a total count on just how many yet,” he said. “I’m very thankful that the schools were let out early. Otherwise the buses would have been right out in the middle of it and it would have been a lot worse. We were really lucky that no schools or churches, no city or county offices or other public buildings were hit.”

McCane said a number of volunteers have been at work helping to clean up neighborhoods, including the former trailer park on Joyce Mill Road, areas on King’s Ridge and Hoskins Road among others.

“We had about 50 people to show up Saturday to volunteer to go out and clean up,” McCane said. “It worked out and I’m glad it did.”

He urged that storm victims should be patient with their situation as “it’s a long, drawn-out process of working with FEMA to get public assistance. I want to encourage people that if you’ve got tornado damage let me know. I’m not going to know about it unless you tell me.”

McCane may be reached at the TCEM office at 255-4281.
